COUNTY HISTORICAL LANDMARK: SITE, DISTRICT, OR OBJECT

Procedure and Instructions

The Wayne County Historical Society is pleased that you desire to have your site, district, or object designated as a County Historical Landmark. We are ready to help you realize your goal. However, our policy is for you to do as much of the research as possible; the award will mean more to you that way.

Definition of a County Historical Landmark – site, district, or object

A site, district, or object of historic importance (100 years old or more).

Sites having outstanding, unique or irreplaceable prehistoric or historic features and having been the location of an important occurrence, event or discovery.

Districts containing two or more structures, buildings and sites which together may possess greater architectural or historical significance than any one of their parts, and which form a cohesive unit.

Objects important in the history of the area or having artistic, scientific, other value.

From the original guidelines by Landmark Committee of the Wayne County Historical Committee in 1976.

Updated by Landmark Committee in April 2001.

Please read the above relevant portions of the description of a County Historical Landmark very carefully. If you believe the site, district, or object you are thinking about meets this definition, get in touch with the designated contact person to learn more about how to proceed.
